Good governance is an indeterminate term used in the international development literature to describe how public institutions conduct public affairs and manage public resources. Governance is "the process of decision-making and the process by which decisions are implemented (or not implemented)". The term governance can apply to corporate, international, national, local governance or to the ...

1. In textbooks (e.g. Horngren et al., 2002, Atkinson et al., 2004) "transfer pricing"™ is commonly understood as the price that a company charges for a product, service, loan and the use of intangibles to a related organisation, including a division, subsidiary, affiliate or a joint venture. It acts as a device for the allocation of costs, income, revenues and profits to various subunits.

Abstract: L4S and Diffserv offer somewhat overlapping services (low latency and low loss), but bandwidth allocation is out of scope for L4S. Therefore there is scope for the two approaches to complement each other, but also to conflict. This informational document explains how the two approaches interact, how they can be arranged to complement each other and in which cases one can stand alone ...

How can international private law react when a state collapses, dragging national law down with it? Priv.-Doz. Dr. Nadjma Yassari, head of the research group on family law and succession law in Islamic countries at the Max Planck Institute for Private Law, has pursued this question by examining the case of Syria. Her article on the subject appears in the latest issue of the Rabel Journal.
